Crerar Points Way To The Federal Field

Brandon, Man. — The most urgent of the problems facing the farmers' independent movement in Canada in the agricultural field, said Hon. T. A. Crerar told the convention of the United Farmers of Manitoba. The former cabinet minister talked for more than an hour late in the evening and outlined federal problems, tariff and naval and military expenditures and imperial relations.

"The only way to escape the vast financial burdens which rest on us is by the practice of direct taxation and that is the position of Mr. Crerar," said Mr. McLean. He urged the importance of the supremacy of parliament over cabinet and advised the federal government to remove all restrictions on personal liberty which result all the liberality enjoyed before the war.

Mr. Crerar said there would be a good representation of farmers in the next parliament and he would like to see 15 or 20 members of the party elected. The world would never leave him since special privilege died hard. Mr. Crerar expressed his belief in the principle of direct taxation and denounced the existing tariff system.

After being asked if he was in agreement, Mr. Crerar declared it was his personal opinion that federal and provincial matters should be kept entirely separate.

He then altered his opinion so Ottawa, a solid representation of supporters of the farmers' platform, I think they will be making a great mistake.

Mr. Crerar, who has been giving the impression that you want to cover everything, will you keep the support of all classes as you have it now?" he asked.

"I say, the thing to do is to concentrate on the federal field. The first and greatest thing for the farmers of Western Canada is to get solid representation at Ottawa."

More Play For School Children

Dr. John Noble Advocates More Out-Door Exercise For Public Schools Of Canada.

Ottawa. — In the education of the children in the public schools of the provinces more money should be spent on hockey sticks and less on text books, declared Dr. John Noble, chairman of the board of education of the Urban School Trustees association here. He advocated more play, more outdoor work and increased attractions for the younger children, especially including music, music, dancing and theatricals.

Reduce War Criminals List

Ex-Crown Prince and Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria to Be Tried.

London. — The list of war criminals to be tried by the allies for war crimes has been considerably reduced and from the originally proposed twelve hundred to about three hundred, according to the Daily Mail. "It was thought better," the news paper adds, "to demand only those whose specific criminal charges have been ascertained, than a long list, releasing many persons charged with high offenses."

The German crown prince and Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria remain on the list.

Mayor Weyher and his associates in the municipalities are not satisfied with the assurances given them by the government. They assert that the government is unduly optimistic in view of the actual conditions.

The national grain bureau is disposed of only sufficient supplies to sustain the population for fourteen days. Unless stocks are quickly moved, it is admitted that the capital is facing a genuine catastrophe at the beginning of February.

The grain bureau authorities charge that the present shortcomings are mere patchwork and that they merely suffice to tide over the provisional shortage.

London Makes New Peace Offer.

Stockholm, Nov. 22. — Maxime Bolevitsch, premier, has made a new peace offer to the allies, which is being taken to London by Colonel Tallents, British representative in the Baltic states.

London, Nov. 22. — The London conference included the following statement:

"As religious chief, I can only say and affirm that it is impossible to conciliate a nation of the futility of fighting while I myself am unable to think. The entire world is in a state of independence and it would interest me, useless to speak in any other language, I do not forget your power, but if Egyptians bend today before you, they will swear the first occasion next year. The guarantee of force is still strong."

Between Syria, occupied by France, and Tripoli, occupied by Italy, it is better for qui que Egypt be independent and friendly."

Lord Milner contended that the protection of Egypt was necessary to the security of the Suez Canal.

Lord Milner contended that a protectorate was necessary to Egypt's interests and that a discussion could settle nine out of ten disputed points.

Lord Milner said that no Egyptian would enter into a discussion except on the basis of independence. Lord Milner maintained that some Egyptians were willing to discuss the questions. But the Mufi replied:

"We can have no discussion until the protectorate is withdrawn."

The commissioner sought to convince him that Great Britain was negotiated by friendship and did not want to impose her will forcibly, although this was the Mufi's opinion.

The Grand Mufti replied:

NURSES ADVISE

Mrs. E. L. Dwyer, graduate nurse of 2209 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois, says: "I have found Zam-Buk to be the best remedy with piles. Zam-Buk is the only remedy that gave her relief."

"I have used Zam-Buk myself for the same ailment, also for nose and throat, and have the greatest confidence in it."

Canada's Second "One Hundred Days"

Canadians everywhere have read, or listened to recitals of Canada's wonderful "One Hundred Days," that period from August 8 to November 11, 1918, when the ever victorious British and Canadian forces, spearhead of the great Allied advance from the Somme to Mons and which resulted in the unconditional surrender of the German armies. Those "One Hundred Days" will live forever, not only in the history of Canada, but in the history of all nations, of civilization itself.

It is now a well established fact that it was the wonderful attack of the Canadians from Arras on August 8, 1918, that turned the tide of war to us and that General Ludendorff, the German chief of staff, has admitted it. The Higher Allied command have acknowledged that the attack from Arras was ordered solely with the object in view of capturing the Aisne-Paris railway from enemy guns, and with that accomplished, that it was the intention to stand on the defence throughout the winter of 1918-19. The Canadian forces were fully in the field for a great spring offensive. But as so successful was the Canadian attack, resulting in the greatest penetration of an opposing line in the whole history of the war, that the success was not exploited with the result that on November 11 the Germans surrendered and signed the most humiliating armistice terms ever signed by a great nation.

Canada now faces at the beginning of this year 1920 another "one hundred days" which are fraught with great possibilities for good or ill in the welfare of this Dominion and its people. During the last year, as our soldiers were returning home, there were tens of thousands every month, a very large measure of success was met with the finding suitable places of employment for them, with the result that the civilian life of the country has proceeded rapidly and with a minimum of friction, suffering and loss to all concerned. Compared with other lands there has been little unemployment in Canada, and the result has been to satisfy to a large body of men in khaki and under military pay in order to prevent a considerable number from complete idleness and unemployment.

A period has now been reached during these winter months when unemployment is on the increase and a goodly and increasing number of men who fought overseas are in need of work. This fact is disclosed by the weekly and monthly reports from Government employment bureaus all over the country, and it is manifesting itself in these western provinces. This period will be short, probably about three months, until spring operations on the farms, building projects, and other industries, and construction work on roads and railways, begin. But this period must be tided over, not only in the interests of the men themselves and their families, but in the interests of Canada. Between now and the commencement of spring activities in all branches of business comes Canada's second vital, all important "One Hundred Days."

The Dominion government has provided a federal emergency appropriation to assist men out of work, but it is vastly more important that work should be provided for these men rather than that they should be in idleness, a great economic waste while remaining in idleness. It is far better that employers of labor should make work for these men, even if no profit accrues to themselves, therefore, or even at a slight financial sacrifice, than to let them remain idle. In any event the people must pay the cost through taxes if these men are maintained through emergency appropriation. It is better that the men be employed in work which will be a comparatively small sacrifice than training for work which they will be fitted to do after these one hundred days have passed and the activities of the spring and summer seasons have begun.

Fitting these men into places now that on the farm, in the shop, or office, training them for work and enabling them to become acquainted with their tasks, will make them valuable helpers for a few months hence, consequently paying them for unproductive work will yield dividends in better and more work later on. It will result in a better national standpoint, it will be found to be wise. Greater production is unquestionably the greatest of all needs of this country, that is greater production along all lines. Only by a larger production can we increase our wealth of natural resources and this country escape bankruptcy, and the people he relieved of a grinding load of taxation and debt. By getting every idle man busy in some kind of work, and fitting him with the tools, will later undertake with his full and more largely developed capacity, the best possible initial step will be taken to guarantee and make possible that larger production in Canada which the necessities of our national position was fully in the field for a great spring offensive. But as so successful was the Canadian attack, resulting in the greatest penetration of an opposing line in the whole history of the war, that the success was not exploited with the result that on November 11 the Germans surrendered and signed the most humiliating armistice terms ever signed by a great nation.

Minimum Wage Board's Aim

Work Involves Program of Quite Constructive Nature

G. N. Jackson, former president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade, has been appointed chairman of the Minimum Wage Board. While the work before the board now is largely administrative in character, it involves also a program of quite a constructive nature. The regulations governing wages in industry have been established as to wages, but there still remains considerable disparity in regard to hours. The aim of the board is to bring time schedules to a 40-hour week standard. This will be affected gradually and in co-operation with employers.

Ex-Service Men Coming to Canada

Careful System of Selection of Candidates for Land Settlement

An ex-in-commissioner has been placed in charge of the settlement of imperial ex-service men in Canada. In order to ascertain the adaptability of the applicant to fit into Canadian life and make a success of farming, a soldier settlement board will establish a careful system of selection of candidates in the old country.

Selection committees will hold sitings in the old country to interview candidates. These committees may enquire into the physical, moral, financial and other qualifications of prospective settlers, and issue certificates entitling holders to proceed to Canada to receive a grant of land and other benefits. Selected candidates may receive the training by taking a course at a training centre established by the board, or by working with experienced farmers. Those who are fit for agriculture will be offered training for agriculture, or even at a slight financial sacrifice, to become agriculturists.

In fitting these men into places now that on the farm, in the shop, or office, training them for work and enabling them to become acquainted with little or no previous experience shall be two years and in the case of candidates who have had considerable farming experience in Great Britain at least one full summer shall be spent in Canada. Qualified candidates will be entitled to receive the financial benefits of the act, but shall be required to make an initial down payment of 20 per cent. of the purchase price of the property selected.

All the expenses incurred by candidates, including the cost of subsistence while receiving training, shall be borne by the candidate.

NOTICE to FARMERS

Edmonton, January 1920

Editor of the Review

Bow Island Alta.
I am instructed to say that distribution will be made to the farmers who bought their crop through drovers last year on the following plan:

The Dominion Department of Agriculture will furnish seed to homesteaders who have not secured patent to their lands, and the Provincial Department to those who hold patent to land, taking in each case a lien on the land on which seed is sown. Agents of the Provincial Government will take applications for both Provincial and Dominion advances, and will be sent to the principal points in the various districts which require assistance, remaining at such points a sufficient time to enable all who wish to meet them. Notice will be given through the local papers of the time when agents will begin work. No application forms will be sent out in advance, but persons who require assistance can write direct to the Seed and Weed Branch, Dept. of Agriculture, Edmonton giving the correct description of their land, the amount of Seed required and stating whether they hold patent or are homesteaders. If renters or those holding land on agreement of sale, the owner of the land must sign the lien or give the person who holds the seed a power of attorney to sign in his stead. Such power of attorney form will be sent on request to those needing same.

Persons needing seed who can buy in their own locality should make arrangements to do so, and in payment of same, but no orders will be given until all necessary papers are properly completed by the agents of the Department. In Municipal Districts the work of distribution will be entirely in the hands of the Municipal officers and all applications or requests should be sent direct to them. The Provincial Department will only act on behalf of the Underprivileged Districts.

Persons ranking on land purchased from the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., who do not hold patent to their land, should apply to the said Company for their seed requirements.

Yours truly
J. D. Smith
Superintendent

Seed Oat Situation

Ottawa, Dec. 31, 1919

In those districts where the oat crop was a partial or total failure last season, farmers are becoming anxious as to the available supply of seed oats. There is a general tendency on the part of the farmers who have seed oats for sale to withhold them until after the winter.

The movement of seed oats is delayed until, because transportation has been held for coal, feed, and live stock.

Probably 400,000 bushels of seed oats may be required in Ontario and Quebec and a much larger quantity in Southern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The Canadian Government Seed Purchasing Commission already has substantial supplies in store in the Interior Terminal Elevators and large quantities of good quality early harvested oats are still to come forward. Alberta and Saskatchewan requirements will be given first consideration from the seed oats produced in these provinces.

The shortage in Ontario and Quebec may quite easily be met from the large and excellent oat crops in Prince Edward Island and Eastern Nova Scotia. No 1 quality Island Banner Seed Oats are now being delivered as far west as Toronto at price comparable with Western seed oats of the same grade. The price of No. 1 Seed oats delivered in bulk carlots at any point in Ontario and Quebec should not exceed the current Port William cash price for No. 2 Canada Western oats by more than 3c. per bushel. Registered and other select stocks due to variety may be higher in price.

The Dominion Seed Branch provides a system of grading and inspection.

"Bit off his nose to spite his face" why of course not, no keen Business man is so foolish as to run down his own Town Paper because by doing that, it lowers the standard of his own Business

The shortage in Ontario and Quebec may quite easily be met from the large and excellent oat crops in Prince Edward Island and Eastern Nova Scotia. No 1 quality Island Banner Seed Oats are now being delivered as far west as Toronto at price comparable with Western seed oats of the same grade. The price of No. 1 Seed oats delivered in bulk carlots at any point in Ontario and Quebec should not exceed the current Port William cash price for No. 2 Canada Western oats by more than 3c. per bushel. Registered and other select stocks due to variety may be higher in price.

These two damsels, nothing loath, sat on their feet, and gazed with interest through the magnificence of grace of their companion. Bullard might as well have been a caged raven, for who had quite recovered from her wave of emotion, sprang from the door.

"I shall show mine, too," she cried eagerly, and began to search up and down, and to look about the room, while the others, even to the fair Cassandra, burst into peals of laughter.

"I do not see mine," said Bullard, "but I am sure I am a good-looking man, with a fine open countenance, bright piercing black eyes, and features that indicated intelligence of a high order.

at varying rates of speed. When asked if he might not prefer to order the chassis to have the caskets contained in them, he said, "I have no objection to that, but the show car in the window looked perfect. He'll help us, I know; introduce the girls to some nice people and get them over to him." Mr. Johnson said, "I think Mr. Pembroke, we can't go wrong."

"It seems to me, Mrs. Elliot represents us, and can sometimes too, from the superintendent of Robert College.

"I have been here, but you have been out here?" Ruggles asked.

"For four years. During my competitive examination to fill a vacancy on the staff of teachers at the school, I was the only one to win it. Girls tried it for us, but we were the only ones to win."

Ruggles, short and stout for a girl, was very well made.

"Then all I can say is that he comes from a good family," he answered slowly. "All the same, it is pretty tough. I've been up against some hard times, but I'm still here."

There was a girl, Mrs. Elliot, who had a very bad cold, and was very weak, but she was a good looking man, with a fine open countenance, bright piercing black eyes, and features that indicated intelligence of a high order.

A Alberta Wants A Provincial Forester

Management and Control of Timber in the Prairie Provinces.

Alberta is asking for an innovation in the care of its forests, by the appointment of a provincial forester.

The Dominion government has always been anxious to have a forester, and it is expected that it will be one of the questions affecting natural resources in the west will be on the list for consideration in the new year.

The Canadian Forestry association is the prime mover in the matter, and through its instrumentality, pressure is being brought to bear upon the federal authorities to make a complete change in the management and control of timber lands in the prairie provinces. Similar steps are being al-taken in the other provinces, which have control of their own natural resources, and delegation recognition is asked for.

So far as Alberta is concerned, the forestry industry is claiming that the present system of administration is wasteful and that the industry has too much given to a policy of cutting out the timber in one district and then passing on to another, without making any provision for re-foresting.

It has been felt that the public interest in the Alberta crown lands is not being sufficiently protected by the present methods, and in order to effect a change, the following resolution was passed by a provincial forestry association:

"That the government of Alberta be asked to make a provincial foresty

commissioner, and that the provincial foresty commission be given the power to make a provincial foresty
